

WI00122057Selection of persons for testing of anthropometric aspects of industrial products and designs (ISO/NP 15537)

Determines the procedures to be applied to the composition of groups and persons whose anthropometric characteristics are to be representative of all prospective users of any specific object under test. These procedures will be applicable to the anthropometric aspects of testing of industrial products and designs having direct or indirect contact with the human body and its functions.