

EN ISO 4871:1996

Acoustics - Declaration and verification of noise emission values of machinery and equipment

This standard - gives information on the declaration of noise emission values, - describes acoustical and product information to be presented in technical documents for the purposes of noise emission declaration, and - specifies a method for verifying the noise emission declaration. It is applicable to machinery and equipment.